BAKER HOUSE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
AGENDA

Special Meeting called by President Mitchell for January 19, 1972 at 7:30PM

On December 6, 1972, a House Meeting decided that they wished to dispose of the House TV by raffling it off to a person in the house. Soon after, a group called the Baker House Vigilante Committee removed the TV from the TV room. On January 12, 1972, they put up a petition in the Baker lobby concerning the TV issue. On January 15, they sent me a letter offering to return the TV on their terms. Later in the day, the TV was returned. It is presently being stored.

There are three very important parts to this issue, as I see it.

- a) A decision was made at a House Meeting, and a group of House residents did not agree with it. What was the proper course of action to take, and what, if anything, shall be done to those who felt themselves not bound to the ruling of the House Meeting ?
- b) What action shall be taken in the present with the TV ?
- c) What proposals shall be made to the next House Meeting (scheduled for Registration Day) about the disposition of the house TV, and so this type of 'vigilante' committee will not happen again.

This is a complicated issue, and will be the ONLY item for discussion at this meeting.

All Baker House residents are invited.

Mark L. Mitchell
Baker House President

BAKER EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MEETING MINUTES

The executive council meeting called by President Mitchell on jan. 19 opened at 7:30 without a quorum. There were present about 20 other interested bakerites as well. Lacking a quorum, this meeting would not make any decisions and therefore no votes were taken. These minutes, not in the familiar format of motions and resulting votes, are an attempt at paraphrasing the discussion. The combined effort of both Mitchell and myself is an attempt at keeping the minutes representative.

At the beginning of the meeting, andy passed out a mimeographed essay concerning the color t.v. issue (which was later stuffed in everyone's mailbox).

Mark mentioned that the constitution was written 2 or 3 years ago and read some excerpts from the constitution:

- II ...all acts and decisions of the baker house meeting and the executive council shall be considered to be acts and decisions of baker house and the residents thereof.
- IV-6 Decisions of the house meeting shall be made by a simple majority vote and shall be binding upon the executive council.
- V-4 ...The executive council shall make no policy decisions.

The events surrounding the color t.v. were listed chronologically to assist in the understanding of what was happening, they are:

- 1) the new t.v. was stolen
- dec.6) the house meeting
- dec.11) the old t.v.(left in the t.v. room) was removed by the baker house vigilante committee.
- jan.12) b.h.v.c. place a petition on the social pole.
- jan.12) judcom signon blackboard asking who knows where the t.v. is
- jan.15) b.h.v.c. offers Mitchell the color t.v. for super bowl with provision that it be stored afterwards till feb. house meeting in a place to be named.
- jan.16) Mark ignores the letter, but he does go to look for andy (with Nafi, Hellinger, and Goodof.) Mark also says that until that evening, no one had mentioned to him about storing the t.v. He objected to b.h.v.c. partly on this basis; had he known earlier, things might have been diff.
- jan.16) b.h.v.c. offers execom the color t.v. for the super bowl with the provision that execom store it after the s.b.VI (everyone on execom voted for it, except Mark since he was not shown the motion.)

Various proposals were given to insure more responsible house decisions. Among them:

- 1) Have house meeting decisions approved by the next house meeting. (It was noted that this would grossly slow down house decisions and for some time-limited decisions would be absolutely impossible.)
- 2) Something on the order of 100 signatures postponing a decision of a house meeting till the next meeting.

George Doerre talked for a while near the beginning of the meeting about whether it really made sense to give house the right to sell its facilities, such as the color t.v. He suggested that this could result in some absurd situations particularly when a previous year's house had voted to put money into these facilities with the understanding that they would stay and benefit the house.

We later got into a rather heavy, melodramatic discussion concerning democracy. Mark asserted that "I don't think that logic has anything to do with democracy." Actually, what Mark was trying to get across is the fact that democracy is not necessarily logical.

Concerning the vigilante comm., it seemed that no one really wanted to screw them, but on the other hand, they didn't want to condone their actions. For the most part, a mild reprimand, or censure was felt to be the proper action. Some felt that future vigilance committees should be met with possibly severe punishment.

Celentano tried to clear up any misconceptions concerning the baker vigilante's sincerity and said that their actions were, in fact, successful in that they precipitated the ensuing discussion. He hopes that the house takes the t.v. and house gov't purpose problems with the same concern that b.h.v.c. does.

moody, & other random people band: bands are to practice in the dining hall ~~only~~ between the hours of 12 noon & 6 p.m. only.

t.v & house meeting issue:

3 separate considerations are

1 how to constitutionally check house meeting decisions

2 what to do with the present T.V.

3 what to do with the vigilantes the constitution allows a petition of 30 signatures to present agenda for a house meeting, in which a previous house decision can be reversed. however, no allowance has been made for stopping house action in the process.

therefore, the following motion HAS BEEN PRESENTED:

- (1) if a sufficient number of people wish to appeal a decision of a house meeting, then they should present a petition of 100 signatures to the next Execcomm meeting which will halt action on the questioned decision and bring it up at the next house meeting.

in order
the execcom voted to present this to the house for review and the decision whether or not to hold a referendum so as to make this part of the constitution. passed 7-0 celentano mentioned that perhaps for important issues, such as facilities, a 2/3 majority vote should be required with a larger quorum (than 30) necessary.

- (2) motion to put on the agenda the t.v. room problem with the consideration of the proposals on the petition plus any other reasonable ones which may be considered. passed 7-0

- (3) motion to present to the house meeting the following motion to be voted on at the meeting:

we recommend ~~that~~ censure of the vigilance committee and read into the minutes of this house meeting that if ever again anyone should take into his(her,their) hands an action that defies the decisions of the house, then they(he,she) will be prosecuted in appropriate manner. passed 7-0

vandalism

celentano brought this up. not surprisingly, many execom members at this point wanted to adjourn the meeting and get back to their exciting life at baker. celentano has said that in light of recent incidents, he has made it very clear to various people that if he comes across any destruction, he will act and wants to be considered the equivalent of a judcom member.

perlmutter remarked that that was some political maneuver.

~~xxxxxxx~~ celntano remarked that in fact that was a quite unpopular position to hold, and it would be much worse if he had been greasy and waited until after he was elected. (yes I know I spelt my name wrong)

hockey in the halls

(fuller & purlmutter were at the hockey game, mitchell ws late) celentano said that hockey players were at a game which didn't lend the situation to being a representative one but execcom was overwhelmed with a considerable number of concerned people and decided to discuss the issue.

across: 1 hockey is noisy and 2nd floor hockey players have been known to play at 9:30 sunday mornings

2 hockey is dangerous and should be confined to an area endangering only those playing hockey marks up the walls and who is going to pay

3for the physidal damage

andy was wondering if some compromise could be worked out such as setting reasonable time restrictions and requiring protection along the periphery such as mattresses.

it was mentioned that this still didn't solve the problem of danger and people present at the meeting wanted to see hockey out of the halls.

after considerable confusion as to what the present policy on hockey in the halls was ira set us straight.

the 1st floor tried to get hockey out of the halls but the motion to not allow hockey in the halls was defeated. it was decided that hockey players should simply be considerate and acknowledge the pleas of those requesting them to stop.
judcom supposedly would uphold any request as above.
mitchell had suggested setting up a little rink near the trunk room, but that's as far as it went.

tobkin said that he had offered gil rappaport $30 to set it up but nothing happened.

noah suggested that perhaps if the majority of a floor did not want hockey in the halls then the decision of the house meeting suggested that they should not have to continuously request hockey players to stop but rather, there should be no hockey playing on that floor.

people present asked why this had to constitute a majority of the floor - how about the right of the individual who values his viscus. they wanted execcom to rule that there was to be no hockey playing in the halls period.

celentano said that execom could not rule a house meeting decision. however perhaps something could be worked out . sigal said fine but what happens if someone dies between now and next house meeting because of hockey. kamoramy said that if it was brought up to a house meeting, the hockey coalition would push through hockey. noah said that this was no reason to prevent the house from making the decision.

finally a motion was made to direct judcom to enforce a no hockey policy until the next house meeting keeping in mind
1 there is a rule against flying objects in the halls
2 more importantly, in its capacity to interpret house decisions, execom feels that if a considerable number of people are disturbed by hockey playing, then they can demand judcom support. passed 7-0 celentano fixed wording for amendment 5 execom approved 7-0 also approved 7-0 of andy's letter to dormcon:

let it be known that the baker executive committee demands that dormcon provide the communication guaranteed baker in the current revised & amended dormcon constitution & bylaws; viz.,
1 that 10 days written notice be given to all members of the baker executive committee for any dormcon meeting(article VII cons)
2 that minutes of all dormcon meetings be sent to all baker execom members 48 hours after the meeting (article I sec. 2 bylaws) furhtermore, we want to make it very clear that any committee formed under the auspices of dormcon & purportedly representing the dormitory system must include as many representatives from baker as from any other single dorm. otherwise, the committee will not be recognized by baker as being a truly representative body and baker will act accordingly.

Statement of Candidacy for Paul Camann for the position of Vice-President for Freshman Orientation and Dormitory Council

Ask any freshman, "What did you think of this year's orientation program?" and he'll give you a mildly astonished and somewhat cynical look and reply, "What orientation program?"

Things can't go on this way.

Another class of disinterested freshmen could be the end of house unity by the time the present class reaches its senior year. We have freshmen here who picked Baker as their ~~xxx~~ third or fourth choice. But do you realize the full implications of this? Some were so indignant at being placed here that they retaliated by doing nothing, in an "I'll-show-them-that-they-can't-do-this-to-me" attitude. And their nonparticipation has been felt—is still being felt. Problems formerly handled internally (e.g., squabbles with roommates) were interpreted by some as an excellent excuse to move out of the house. And some did.

I'm not saying that this year's ~~xx~~ orientation program (or lack of it) was completely to blame. Certainly the age of the facility and the exorbitant rents were partially at fault. But I've spoken with freshmen who would have picked Baker as second choice had a more obvious effort been made by Baker residents to show them what life at Baker is really like and to make them feel more at home during R/O week.

Which leads me to the point I feel should receive the greatest stress in any campaign concerning freshman orientation at Baker: If any orientation program at Baker is going to succeed, it must show Baker's most "salable commodity"—its residents—to greatest advantage. For the most part, the people in Baker have a greater social sense, a greater degree of mobility and a greater amount of personal interaction than the residents of any other dorm. This is Baker's greatest strength and must be emphasized if we hope to attract freshmen next year.

Baker also needs a V.P. for Freshman ~~x~~ Orientation who realizes that his responsibility extends beyond R/O week, one who will organize and advise a Freshman Council, who can be expected to act as a reliable and credible parliamentarian should the need arise, and who can properly represent the spirit and ideas of Baker in both Dormcon and Execcon.

I feel I can accomplish this, and I want to do so.

I've served on Freshman Council and this past year's Freshman Orientation Committee; I'm also a member of the Client Team for renovations. I've observed house government both at house meetings and at many sessions of the Executive Council, and I know I can play an active, responsive and responsible role in governmental affairs. The role of the V.P. for Fresh Orientation as one of the two Baker representatives to Dormitory Council has never been properly stated or emphasized until very recently, and this is a matter I hope to rectify if elected. I have the experience and capability necessary to properly serve as the V.P. for Freshman Orientation and Dormcon, and for ~~xx~~ these reasons I feel I am the only man for the job.

Paul R. Camann

this is my official statement of candidacy for baker house preseedent. I'm not stuffing it in your mailbox because you might mistake it for house minutes. let me begin by saying that I for one am not running a high school presidential campaign. there are quite a few people who would like to be president of baker- that's no reason to vote for them. the presidential job can be a crucial one in house gov't. true, no president can promise you better grades, but he is an official voice for baker when he walks into the dean's office. As such, he can, if competent, get a lot done for you. in light of the above, I feel that I'm a qualified candidate.

at the buttery last night, I wasn't about to list what I've been doing over the last few years. however, I will briefly discuss below what I've done. (here, at least, you can skip it)

1) cuafa (committee on undergraduate admission and financial aid) since my sophomore year, I have been active on this student-faculty committee. one of the biggest things we've done is recommend admitting more women to mit which included setting up an equitable admission procedure. we also recomme the 1600 equity level for current financial aid awards.

2) coed living the coed living comm. was formed during a very exciting ~~and~~ 2 hr. execom meeting (10-11-71) Doerre & I were given white ballot status as co-chairmen of the comm. our most recent achievement is a proposal which we drew up and presented to dean sorensen on the 28 (today) you might drop by and read a copy of it if you're so inclined. meanwhile, noah and I are planning a series of study breaks with mccormick- the first of which is tomorrow night (2-29-72)

3) client team (renovations) we've had a series of major drawbacks recently. we are, nevertheless, the official liaison with the deans. we hope to at least change baker's renovation status from yellow to red. at the very least we will definitely get baker closed this summer for a thorough cleanup.

4) technique article. in recent years, baker's photo essay was left to technique workers. this year, I've put a considerable amount of time into it- mainly because I was getting frustrated by our bland section. if everything works out right, 350 people from baker may actually want to buy a yearbook (well - not quite)

5) I have done other activities outside of student gov't but these are not really relevant. I have done numerous extras such as remodeling & organizing the housecom office, getting the constitution available to those who wanted one, starting a new series of baker letters. most recently, I've set up a commons committee.

so much for that. let me give you an idea of what will be happening in 72-73 house meetings- I feel that they should be run smoothly, but more informally as well. It can be done - I witnessed it freshman year. for example, I really don't think immediate tabling of a motion before a reasonable amount of discussion is necessary. especially with our 10% tabling rule, I can't see how it could hurt to at least talk out some viewpoints. specific problems will arise soon with respect to clyt, hockey, & vandalism. hopefully, people will show consideration and keep their cool.

communication most of the problems we've had recently (rent comm., color tv etc.) have been an immediate result of the present lack of communication. I am the type of person who seriously considers everyone's opinion & I'm willing to listen to anyone. I also firmly believe in keeping honest & consistent communication with dormcon, the deans, & bakerites. execom, house, client team, c.r.o.t.c.h., coed, & commons committee meetings should give more than enough opportunities for people expressing themselves. in closing, I hope that your vote depends on who you think deserves the position and will do the best possible job. I certainly don't hope it depends on how often you see his name written on the walls of baker. If the election goes well, you will have one of the best house gov'ts and one of the best years baker has ever, (and will ever have seen.

Statement of Candidacy

Mark L. Mitchell, running for President

There is one reason why I am running for Baker House President, and that is to try to improve the dormitory as a living group and reverse the current trend disorganization, disorientation, and disillusion. There has been a very marked lack of interest in house, floor, and group activities. Part of the problem may have been that when the form of house government changed, there no longer was any one on the floors to organize things and to try to generate interest in house functions as the hall chairmen used to do.

As an attempt to change the present trend, I would try to move the house government in the following directions:

- a) Facilities - try to set up more lounges by getting more chairs, couches, and tables into the hallways. This includes the east ends and centers as well as the west ends that do not now have lounges.
- b) Floor activities - have each floor elect two or more floor chairmen whose only purpose will be to spend their budget (hopefully $250 - $300) on floor functions. This would include parties, steak fries, and whatever else that can be done to promote floor and group unity. (Floor athletic teams, maybe?)
- c) Communication - Communication between the Executive Committee and the people in the house has been very poor this year, and maybe butteries could occasionally be held to let people know what is going on, especially in the areas of orientation, services and facilities, social, and athletic committees where people with ideas and who are willing to work are always needed.

as Mayor George Piccini - Most people really enjoyed the house & coin worked as part of orientation week.

I think a similar event held around the beginning of

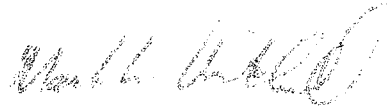

May would probably be the high point of the spring term.

The key to all of these plans is you. None of them will succeed if you are not willing to take out a little time to help. I can promise you that there are very few people willing to put the whole burden of changing things on their own backs. There are however many who will do part. If they will, we will have few problems, and the atmosphere for all will be much better.

Come to the House meeting tonight at 8 P.M. to hear all the candidates for election, and to bring up any questions you have about the candidates now.

Sincerely,

Mark L. Mitchell

WRITE IN CANDIDATE FOR THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.
TONY E. PARKER , 1972.

Statement of candidacy:

In view of the fact that there are so far only 4 candidates who are running for six G.A. positions, I have decided that I should run for one of these positions as a write in candidate. I pledge to support the move for the abolition of the G.A. I base my position on the following facts:

1. There is now a general and widespread student apathy concerning the G.A., as is evidenced by the present elections.

2. The G.A. has made expenditures of money in the normal course of its operation that could obviously be put to much better use elsewhere.

3. The G.A. as it is presently constituted has much more potential for harm than it has for being useful.

TONY E. PARKER.

WRITE IN CANDIDATE FOR GENERAL ASSEMBLY.
JOHN MILLER '73.

Statement of candidacy.

Due to the deplorable situation of having only four candidates running for the six Baker House seats in the general assembly, I consider it appropriate for me to run as a write in candidate on the platform that the general assembly should be disbanded as soon as practicable. The general assembly spends money for no visible reason other than some elite group deciding it wants to do so. The general assembly is such a waste of time and money that people don't even run for it.

JOHN MILLER

A STATEMENT

I'm not a reporter for the Tech or the New York Times. I do not know any members of the Corporation much as I'd love to. I don't see that any of that is relevant. What is relevant is the things I want to do in Baker House.

I would like to have all kinds of people visiting the house on a regular basis - professors, alumni, deans, people from fraternities and other dorms, coeds, Wellesley girls, people from other colleges, institute shrinks, maybe even Corporation members. We used to have professors for dinner on a reasonably regular basis. This has tapered off to almost nothing. I'd like to bring it back in an even bigger way.

Another idea I would be interested in pursuing if there were enough interested people would be hiring professional encounter group leaders and running T groups in Baker House. Several fraternities have tried doing this and have met with great success.

I'd very much like to see a coed living experiment here, as unlikely as that may seem.

Aside from these specific goals, I would like to deal with some of the intangibles that exist in a living group of this type, those concerned with the relation of student to school and those concerned with the relation of student to student. I realize that this sounds vague, but the atmosphere that exists in the house is something that is both hard to pin down and different to every person. What it boils down to is that I really care about the people in this house and I think a lot can be done towards making it a friendlier place.

In summary, I think that there are a lot of things that Baker House residents want that fall under "institute relations" and I am very willing to work for them. I have listed the things I've already thought about; needless to say, I'd be more than willing to pursue anything else people in the house are interested in.

So what else can I say except that I hope enough people are concerned enough to vote for me. Thank you.

MICHAEL POLATNICK

Statement of candidacy for VP for Institute Relations, for Baker

I am not a hack candidate. I am not a politician.

I make no g randiose claims about being able to remove the drabness and anonymity of the Institute.

A major part of these problems lies in the attitudes of everyone toward meeting others and interacting with them in a non-exploitative way. There is very little anyone can do to change these attitudes. What I can do is act as a mechanism to help people in Baker effect their ideas about gaining new areas of contact with other parts of MIT.

I think that the job of VP for Institute Relations is to make the closer interchange of view, and opinions, to help Baker become a freer, more open living environment, to encourage more interesting and influential people to know Baker and its problems, and to act as a conduit for students ideas.

Toward this end, I would attempt to find out the real desires of house residents and not try to impose my own preconceived notions on Baker residents when I initiate meetings.

I do not think this office is the proper place to help guys find girls or get fixed up for the house party.
That's a job for the social chairman.

What I can do is find out what's interesting, what is wanted, and what will bring a more open exchange of ideas throughout the range of groups on campus. If you want to passively accept everything I thrust on you without without suggesting what might be done, then I submit that I will have failed in this post.

And, I'm willing to do my damnest to effect what you will suggest.

I think that I'm the best person for this position as I know what should be done, what can be done, and how to effect what is possible. I know how this place works from three years of reporting for The Tech and The New York Times.

I ask that Baker elect me as VP for Institute Relations because I'm in the best position to help the house and am willing to do the work.

EXECCOM MEETING

Sept 17, 1972

The meeting started at 8:10 with all present except our president, Andy Celentano, whose absence went strangely unnoticed by many until near the end of the meeting. There are counter rumors that he was actually there, but these reports have so far remained unsubstantiated.

Return of key lists- Bill Blum said that he believed that the vast majority of the house favored the return of the key list system and he revealed an insidious plot on the part of the 'Tute to force all the students into the same mold (this is something new?) and turn them into robots all with only one key to their rooms. Noah confirmed this and said he was going to get tough in his negotiating stance with the administration.

Report of client comm.. Don't tell Santa I ruined his big surprise, but Baker House is getting a new lobby for Christmas. And, like all Christmas gifts, it's not exactly what we needed.

Baker House Circus- Rich Amato reviewed the circus for those that missed it. About 12 participated and the cost was $83.25 for costumes etc. Motion to pay it passed 4-3-1

Complaint Dept.-Noah objected to the continued existence of refrigerator permits, pointing out that there were lots of other power users in the average dorm room and there was no reason to single out refrigerators. He also mentioned the lack of desk lamps and the resulting danger to the eyesight of the dimly lit room resident

The house stereo now works. The T.V. is dead.

Motion to repair Todd for $60 passed 0-0-1

Motion to loan snack bar $300 passed 0-0

Meeting adjourned.

I must apologize for the terrible ending on my agenda. It's just that I'm going through cyclic menopause and sometimes I'm really grumpy. And if you don't want to accept my apology, you can just go suck eggs.. Todd

MEMORANDUM
SUBJECT: MMM MEETING
DATE: 8, 1972, 10:00 P.M. Dining Hall

AGENDA

1. Appropriate money for piano (Finally, the keyboard freaks of Baker get what they've wanted for the last infinite years.)
2. Appropriate money for secretary (supplies, repairs)
3. Discuss stereo situation and Randy Woodard
4. Bulletin board.
5. Talk about next house meeting, to wit, X-mas Party, TV set, and other neat things

Hey, you officers, this is a really boring agenda and it's all your fault. It's really hard to inject humor and interest into drab old subjects like the stereo. I want to see some real snappy topics for next week. Don't let your faithful secretary down.. Eternal vigilance is the cost of freedom, you know.

BIG ANNOUNCEMENT !!

According to the rules of the game, I don't have to tell everybody about these Execcomm meetings, only those who want to know.. Therefore, as in past years, and in order to save paper, I will establish a list of those who want Execcomm agendas and minutes. Everybody will continue to receive House Meeting agendas and minutes (that, too, is in the rules). I will put up a list on the pole next to the blackboard soon. Watch for it and sign your name to it. Execcomm notices come in classy looking Hektograph and sometimes contain clever drawings and cute sayings.

THE OMNISCIENT EYE DAILY NEWS BRINGS YOU AN EAR-WITNESS ACCOUNT OF

THE EXECCOMM MEETING

Oct 8 1972 10:17
MINUTES

Andy started off the meeting on a cheerful note by reading off the rules regarding waterfights..

1. Don't douse the spectators. The difference between a participant and a spectator may be difficult to determine in the heat of battle. Basically, if he's carrying water he's a fighter. If he's emptyhanded he's a spectator. If he's working up a mouthful of saliva or has his pants open, he's a bordercase.

Stay away from verboten areas. For instance, 4th east, 3rd Central. And "If I find any of those G-----d hippies with their marias in 2nd East, I'll string 'em up!"-Bersack.

3. Never fight on the staircases and stay away from the elevator. You wouldn't feel too good with multiples fractures across your body each $(X^2+Y^2)*0.5$ (Fortran), (where X=the width of each step and Y=the height of each step), inches apart.

4. Waterfights must end by 1 a.m. on weekdays and 2 a.m. on weekends.

Andy also mentioned that nothing, repeat, absolutely nothing must ever, ever be thrown out of the windows. Even something as small as a match could potentially be very dangerous and harmful. However, a special exception to the above rule covers the throwing of pianos out the window.

$550 was appropriated for the repair of one of the pianos. Passed 8-0

The stereo situation. The stereo will not be loaned out over the summer to fourth year students and maybe not loaned out at all. Damage to the stereo would be paid for by the student. If the damage was less than the $25 deposit, the balance would be refunded unless obvious gross negligence was involved, in which case a penalty fee might be levied.

The next House Meeting was set for Tuesday, Oct. 17

Todd then bumbled his way through a request for $25. His request was quickly picked to pieces by the rest of the Execcomm and it was pointed out that he didn't even need it, much less deserve it. He retreated in confusion and shame. Poor twerp.

Pete reported that last term we budgeted $6600 and spent $3600

$45 was appropriated for a party on a certain day for a certain floor. Details later. Sorry fellas.

EXECOMM MINUTES (in detailed condensation)
OCT. 15, 1972

The meeting opened at a little after 10 with a sudden flurry of action at the snack bar and mild skirmishes at the pizza truck. When the dust cleared, everybody was seated around the table except the president, whose name we won't mention so he won't be embarrassed. He showed up later, anyhow. Jim Moody was questioned on any definite plans he had for house parties in the near future. He admitted that there would indeed be one and it would definitely be either two weeks or three weeks from last Saturday or maybe Friday starting sometime in the evening and there would probably be girls there. Upon further questioning, he said that it would absolutely or possibly not be better than the ones we've had so far this year. He announced that the final details would be worked out at a meeting of Soccomm Tues, at 8:30 P.M.

It was announced that in the future, if you need money, you should go through the appropriate member of Execomm. Where else could you find an example of youthful ~~bea~~ bureaucracy at its best?

There was discussion of what we could do for Charlie Roehl and Jim French, both deceased, of Baker House. It was decided to consult Prof. Toksoz.

Andy explained what the appropriation for freshman butteries was all about. It was decided to take the $30 out of the Frosh-Orientation budget. Moved and passed 9-0

Mandel felt that the house should purchase and build a couple of pairs of Bose 901's (speakers, for those who don't know.) It was quickly pointed out that 901's were ridiculous, necessary, good, bad, cheap, expensive, a pile of petrified crap, and obviously more necessary to the house's welfare than sex. The proponent of the last statement refused to speak up when ordered to identify himself. Lucky for him. It was decided to bring it up at Tuesday's House Meeting

Paul wanted to appropriate $200 for frosh-counsel-din-dins. Passed 9-0

George asked for $300 for electronics lab, Passed 9-0 He mentioned that E-lab will be open very soon. Anyone who demonstrates that he knows how not to destroy the lab will be put on a signout list behind the desk. Don't cheat on the list, because "I don't think it will be worth it. Seriously, I'll kill him."

Meeting adjourned.

Listen you guys, I don't know yet whether I'll take this job next term or not and if I decide not to, I'll need someone to take over. If you are interested, contact me between 5 and 5:15 A.M. at the Metropolitan Storage Warehouse and if I decide to retire I'll choose one of you. Here is your big chance to follow in my footsteps and if you have any sort of talent at all, you'll obliterate them. It should be sort of interesting since I don't know what ~~if~~ I'm doing. I just proved it.

To whom it may concern: One of these days I'm going to get around to cleaning up the bulletin (drat!) board and allotting space.. When that happens, all further notices must be dated and in the right place. If not, I'll just tear it down. With rare exception, notices will only stay up two weeks.

Hurry, Hurry!! Place your bets in the Quadrennial How Many Assholes In America? Pool. Bets can be placed through Nov. 6, and winner(s) will be determined by the results of the national election. Since we live in a country where the majority is always right, the assholes are obviously defined as those who did not vote for the winning candidate. (Since there are three candidates and the election is run by Electoral College, the assholes could conceivably be a majority of the voters. Nixon's Silent Majority that doesn't vote will not be counted. There is no such thing as a passive Asshole.) Make the closest guess as to how many people vote against the next President. 10% a vote winner take all. There is no political bias in the pool. Personally, I'm for McGovern, but I too shall be counted among the assholes should he lose. I'll be in good company.

CHAPTER XXXVIII

MINUTES OF THE EXECCOMM MEETING

OCT. 24, 1972

First thing off, we appropriated $100 for a 4th west party, under the careful guidance of our social leader, Jim. He breathed a big sigh of relief as we passed it, 9-0. Then it was once more into the fray as he successfully battled for $400 for the House party on Nov. 4, against the determined opposition of no-one in particular. Breakdown of the money is: $200 for the band, $125 for the booze, $50 for the decorations, and $25 for trivia like advertising. He declared himself open for help and suggestions: "You wanta have something really strange at the party?" "Yeah, girls!" Passed 7-0-2 (absentions)

George asked for $87 for stuff that he's already bought, and $50 for special circuit boards for Bose equalizers. He has a hunch that there will be a sudden large demand for them soon. Brief discussion and then passed, $87 9-0 $50 7-2

Todd finally pulled through in a burst of glory as he got $120 for secretarial supplies. He also sent Execcomm into convulsions as he admitted he didn't have the slightest idea how much he could buy with that amount of money.

Jeff Broughton discussed the situation regarding the console and its type balls. There was some concern expressed about the dangers of ripoff. The final security decisions were left up to Jeff to decide. At the same time, we appropriated $40 to get new earphones for the language lab.

Bret reported that he couldn't seem to find any Motorola Quasars on the market even though he looked all over town in two different stores. George reported on the availability of Heathkit, then urged us to buy Quasar. After prolonged discussion, we voted for Heathkit 6-2, and appropriated $600 9-0

We discussed the slow progress being made toward getting gas dryers for the laundry room. We also discussed talking to Doc Edgerton about getting a strobe. And we discussed standardizing rates of payment for car use for the house.

It was decided that Baker House would sponsor a speaker clinic at the Student Center.

We voted against appropriating $20 for football and $22 for cross country victory parties, 3-6. But we voted to subsidize both of them on a dollar for dollar basis up to $15, 6-2

George says: "People should not damage the pinball machines excessively."

$50 dollars was appropriated for the family of Jim French.

THE CONTINUED ADVENTURES OF JUNGLE BOB AND HIS WOMAN

Last week, as you will recall, we left our hero facing twenty-seven regiments of lust-crazed pygmies, all armed with Sherman tanks and Bic Bananas to mark the spot where he was smashed to a mass of raspberry jam. His plight was truly hopeless. This week, we find Jungle Bob cheerfully strolling along the trails of a dark and mysterious forest, casually explaining to his woman how he had extricated himself from his plight. Their conversation is too low for us to hear. Suddenly a cracking branch in the nearby forest brings everyone of his amazing animal senses to the alert with such force that he falls flat on his face. Without pausing to scream in pain, he thrusts his tongue into the soil to test its acidity and measure ground movements on the Richter scale. He quickly flips over on his back and observes that it is indeed daytime, just as he had guessed. Rising to his knees, he crept around a handy corner and a smile rose to his lips. What luck! He had stumbled onto that bastion of the underworld, the rare and elusive

Dateline White Swan, N.M. Radio Free Nixon informally initiated legal proceedings in Judge Lynch's 3rd Judicial District Kangaroo Court. Guest of honor at the upcoming necktie party will be your hero and mine, Jungle Bob. As the hastily assembled jury enthusiastically knotted nooses and loaded shotguns, the Prosecuting Attorney, Snidely Whiplash, explained the charges amid premature criss of "Guilty! Let's string 'im up!" Jungle Bob stands accused of misrepresenting himself as a lifeform and claiming status as such, revealing the identity of his woman as a 358 pound hog named Matilda, leading a group of 5 little old ladies directly into the path of a fleet of Mac trucks passing down 5th Ave., and for vicious littering. The rest of the charges are summarized as follows:

Tune in next week as we hear Jungle Bob say: "Well, gee whiz, fellows, this is lots of fun, but I think I'd like to go home now."

AWESOMELY UNFUNNY MINUTES!!

DUE TO CIRCUMSTANCES TOTALLY UNDER MY CONTROL, THE FOLLOWING IS VERY SERIOUS(SORT OF, AT LEAST LACKING IN BELLY-LAUGHS) AND IT MIGHT BE A GOOD IDEA TO READ THEM ANYHOW. WHO KNOWS, MAYBE THEY REALLY ARE FUNNY? (Compared to what I usually write)

EXECCOMM MEETING

MINUTES

NOV. 12, 1972

Meeting started at 10:05 There was an explanation by Mike of why we got 3 forfeits in volleyball. Nobody's fault, really.

Appropriations: Todd asked for: $30.96 old supplies bill $21.80 mimeograph repairs

passed 9-0

There was a discussion of outsiders using the Dining Hall and Master Suite Lounge. Whether or not to charge for it or not. It was agreed that it should not.

The subject is dope. The situation is that $25 of House money was badly accounted for from the 6th floor party in Oct., and it was learned later that the money was spent on marijuana. At the last meeting it was voted to have the people responsible pay the money back to the house. People at this meeting complained that the subject had not been on the agenda and it should not have been such a big secret, and that it wasn't really on this agenda very well either. Andy agreed. The issue at this meeting was whether the people should pay back the money and what would be future policy on it. It was soon agreed that policy should be ~~talked~~ at a house meeting, but it was impossible to keep the issue of policy out of the ensuing discussion. Jim said that he had told people involved not to spend money on dope beforehand, but this was denied. Impasse.

Some of the basic ideas that went around were sort of like the following: It was felt by some that this was a very dishonest thing to do, especially the falsifying of receipts. It was pointed out that it was a lot easier on Pete to hand him a receipt that said "Coke" rather than "Dope". Some felt that it was their money and what they did with it was entirely up to them. Others felt that there could be very bad backlash as far as the law is concerned. Some felt that it should be condoned but just don't publicize it. There was big discussion on how much we need to worry about the outside world, what were the chances of the Campus Patrol having their noses rubbed in it, and having to do something about it. It was also brought up that the event in question was a little too obvious and Execcomm is really put in a bind about possibly having to lie to the outside if word should get out. It was felt by many that such things should never come to the attention of Execcomm. It was wondered what sort of effect a decision in the 6th floor case would have on House policy, (there was disagreement as to whether policy existed on this issue). It was pointed out that perhaps it would be difficult to charge the entire group involved and some people would pay more than their share.

Motion: That the house money spent on marijuana at the 6th floor party in Oct. will not be charged to any individuals responsible; and that this vote does not constitute house policy. Roll call vote

Abeles	Yes	Doerre	Yes
Kurnik	No	Camann	No
Moser	Yes	Mendelssohn	Yes
Kennedy	Yes	Bersack	Yes
Moody	Abstain	Celentano	Yes

If you have any questions at all about what this means, ask any member of Execcomm, he'll explain it

There's more on the agenda for Wednesday. No room.

Please pretend that I wrote RECYCLE THIS TRASH at the top of the page

As you know, in our last regular issue, Jungle Bob was in a mighty tough situation. Before going on, I want to know whether he should die or escape. I think he's a real cretin but whether or not he has any redeeming social value is up to you to decide. I want to hear some opinions on this. If everybody hates him, I'll certainly rescue him, but if you're indifferent, things don't look too good for him.

EXECCOMM MEETING
NOV. 19, 1972 10:00 P.M.
AGENDA

1. Letter from Mr. Roehl
2. First East would like some money for a party.
3. Appropriations for the Talbot House trip- Carol
 - $25 for snacks
 - $150 deposit on the house (If we stole it, would we have to pay any more on the deposit? Imagine Talbot House on the median of Memorial Drive)
 - $25 snowshoes just think how much more progressive than all the other dorms we'd be if we had a pair of House snowshoes. It's the wave of the future.
4. Hockey We need to discuss this perennial favorite once again and try to reach some fairly final policy on funding, etc.
5. General things

JUNGLE BOB ESCAPES!!!!

Due to an overwhelming lack of response (with the exception of Rich Amato) from the residents, indicating total indifference to the plight of Jungle Bob, I have decided to take revenge for ~~you~~ him by letting him escape and thus promising further boring adventures in the future. But, before continuing our story, let us hear from an even more boring source, our sponsor:

EXECCOMM MINUTES

NOV. 19, 1972

Meeting began at 10:12. Todd read a letter from Charlie Roihl's father, thanking us for our letter expressing sympathy on the passing of his son. A box will soon be set up at the desk to receive donations for the Charles Roihl Memorial Fund. Please contribute.

Mike presented appropriations for the Malbot House trip. The question of renting snowshoes occasioned some discussion. It seemed like a big expense for a few people. It was also pointed out that at present there was only 6 inches of snow up there. Mike pointed out that it tended to collect in big drifts. Someone suggested going around the drifts and saving money. It was decided that it might snow some more by Thursday, but we would cut down the number to 6 pairs.

$25 snacks 9-0

$90 deposit 6-2-1

$15 rental 8-1

On the question of hockey the problem was that Mike had told the house meeting that he wouldn't spend more than $50 on the A team. Now they say they need more. $50 would only get them 14 sticks and they can't make it on that. There is also the problem that most of the team have already graduated from Baker, so do they deserve it? It was decided that we couldn't make a decision because it was a policy that was up to the house to decide. Until then, A team can have up to 14 sticks.

We appropriated $31.61 for television wire. 9-0

" " $85 for First East party 9-0

George Doerre officially submitted his resignation as Judcomm chairman. He will act in the capacity until Judcomm can choose a temporary replacement who in turn will be replaced by vote of the House.

Announcements. Jim Moody says remember the Christmas Party on Dec. 9. Get your fix-ups from Fred and Laurie, Rm. 508. Bret says he has 50 yards of coaxial cable to sell for the house. App. $6. Rm. 238

"Hey, you guys like card tricks?" Jungle Bob said nervously, as he produced a deck of cards and dropped them on the ground. He leaned over to pick them up but was brought up short by the noose around his neck. "Uh, have you heard the joke about the traveling salesman and the three squirrels in Alaska?...Bird calls, anyone?" One of the men standing nearest said "Why don't you give up?" "Give up, I don't know the meaning of the word." "It's two words." "See? I told you." Suddenly, inspiration strikes. "Hey, look guys, here's a picture of my woman." While everybody was busy looking at the picture he slipped the noose off his head and trotted off. Once inside the nearby woods, he felt much relieved. Here he was undisputed king, respected and feared by all. Proudly he refused to look down to see who was gnawing on his legs.

ARTHUR AND MARY AT THE MOVIES!!!
OR: BOY, AM I EVER GETTING HORNY

Arthur watched her out of the corner of his eye. Oh, how did he ever get into this mess! He had never expected Mary to say yes when he asked her to go out anyhow. Now he didn't know what to do. He hated it when his hands and pits got all sweaty and his mouth was so dry. Gosh, she was pretty! And she had such beautiful - what to call them? Certainly not what those guys at school called them. That was so gross and degrading. It sounded like what animals had. A woman would never have breasts!! But just the same, the word had a strange sort of appeal to it.

Like a voice in the back of his head, Arthur could hear the guys at school prompting him, "SCREW THE HELL OUT OF HER!! No, shut up, Eddie. First, you got to warm up, like put your arm around her. THE HELL WITH WARMING UP, SCREW HER!" Arthur wondered what Crazy Eddie meant by that. Oh, well, at least he could try the arm bit. He began to scratch his neck, then his ear, then his head. Then he began to pull stray lint off the ceiling of his car. Then he suddenly found fault with the overhead light and adjusted that. Finally, like a great hawk come to snatch its prey, Arthur's arm came to rest on the back of the seat, not more than 12 inches from the back of Mary's neck. Immediately, she spoke up. "Could we leave now. The movie's been over for ten minutes."

ten EXECOMM MEETING MINUTES, to be exact
NOV. 26, 1972

First off, we appropriated $100 for a floor party. Then it was Jim's turn as he asked for appropriations for the Christmas party. In return for the money, Jim pledged "If it's not a good party, you can hang my b---s from the Green Building." We appropriated:

$280 band
$120 trees
$250 booze
$200 decorations

passed 6-0

For some reason, someone pointed out that Jim is autonomous. Wow, how about that!

Noah asked for reimbursement for building the case for the TV. Equal credit goes to Jarvis. $24.28 6-0

Also he wanted $30 for coffee for IAP $30.00 6-0

There will be a house meeting on Dec. 13 at 8:00 P.M.
Fixup forms are due in by Friday midnight

Everybody must come to the Christmas party. That's orders from Jim.

J Obituary- Jungle Bob, habitual sodomist and confirmed cretin, died today at the Lower Nircoga Veterinarian's Hospital. He was five and one-half weeks old. Cause of death was uncertain but appears to be from a combination of fungus and senility.

"Arthur," said Mary, "I've said it before, but this time, to you, I really mean it. Would you rape me?" "Huh?" said Arthur.

THE SECRET LIFE OF THE MAN IN THE HAMBURGER MEISTER MASK!

Now the story can be finally told! How the world's most famous Peepøng Tom developed his skills from the most humble beginnings imaginable, as a freshman in Room 646, peering into the windows of McCormick Hall. Of course, it wasn't as bad as all that, because in those days, the building was new, and many of the rooms were empty. Yet those early experiences taught him the casual acceptance of extreme hardships for which he is so widely admired today. His rapid ascension to the pinnacle of his profession is a matter of history, and he will never be forgotten as the developer of such advanced techniques as the Jump-Up-and-Down-and-Run-Around-To-the-Other-Side ploy, or inventions like the Multi-combinational binoculars-camera-telephone-Convertible electric roller skates.

I found my subject in training for a tough assignment coming up in the near future. He was sitting on a stepladder outside the White House gates with a pair of field-glasses, peering intently at - (Please turn to page 61)

ARTHUR REBOTS!!

Sweat broke out on Arthur's forehead in such profusion that he was momentarily blinded by it running into his eyes. In his confusion, he stepped backwards off Mary's porch and fell into the rose bushes. He opened his mouth to scream, but he couldn't think of how to best express his agony, so he moaned under his breath instead. Mary leaned over him anxiously. "Oh, Arthur, let me help you out of there." Arthur panicked. If she came that close to him, actually touched him, he might not retain control over his wild, animal impulses! He might faint, or get nauseous reactions all night long, like the time he went through Jordan Marsh's lingerie department. "No, uh, I mean, er, th-th-that's perfectly all right. If, if you don't, uh, mind, I'll just lie here until, um, until I g-get my breath back. You just go on into th-the house. Thank you for the nice time." "But Arthur," said Mary, "how will you get home? I drive tonight." "Oh, I usually go jogging about this time of night. I'll be o.k." After Mary went inside, Arthur considered his situation. It wouldn't be so bad, he decided, if it wasn't that he was allergic to roses.

EXECCOMM MEETING MINUTES

DEC. 3, 1972

Jim Thompson proposed that the snack bar be allowed to sell prophylactics, or 'them rubber baby bumpers' as the in crowd refers to them. "I could sell them from my room like cases of coke." After everybody got his chance to make lewd comments, it was moved to let him spend money on it from the snack bar misc. fund, not exceeding $20. Passed 6-1-1

Jim Moody reported that over three cases of coke were ripped off at the 3rd floor party. This is definitely a crummy thing to do. If you have any information to divulge, see Moody, Rm. 447

Andy, with an amazing sense of proper timing, chose now to speak out in favor of Jungle Bob. I may continue his adventures in the Riverworld. The spirit of Bungle Job goes on.

Jim Yang asked for $30 for a tank and chemicals for the dark-room. 0 - 0

Jeff Broughton talked about the state of the damaged APL type-ball and was asked to look into the necessity and and possible freebie.

We talked about getting a -fiche reader for the house. Jean Ward was appointed to look into possible freebie and likelihood of expanding demand for one.

We appropriated money for two basketballs already bought $40 0-0

House meeting was changed to Dec. 14 at 10:00 P.M.

Pete asked for $75 for 5th East 0 - 0

Marty Davidoff from MacGregor asked if we wanted a Foosball game installed. No risk, and we get paid for it. We decided to have it put by the time clock in the basement.

Todd appropriated $20 for a new lock on the Housecomm office. Passed 7-0
